

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

CHRISTMAS IN SPAIN WITH KAREN WILLOUGH

Always full of surprises, Karen Willough now brings us Christmas cheer with her new release “You Know I Have Angels” (“Yo tengo ángeles”) in true Flamenco style. The song’s infectious rhythm and brass rivals José Feliciano’s “Feliz Navidad” for top spot as multilingual Holiday song.

Willough stated, “I have so many Mexican and Spanish fans, I was excited to record a song in this style.” Additionally, Willough also wrote the lyrics and music to “You Know I Have Angels.” Originally from Central America, Willough is more than comfortable singing in Spanish.

Classically trained Willough has been singing with Chicago’s prestigious Mount Carmel Morning Choir for the last four years under the direction of Paul French. Prior to that Ms. Willough sang with Capella Sint Jan in Europe for several years. Originally from New York, Willough was a member of the Songwriter’s Guild of America, where she met the song’s Billboard charting producer michéal Castaldo. “You Know I Have Angels” was produced by Castaldo at studios in New York, Chicago, Toronto (Canada), and Rome (Italy).

Willough made her solo debut earlier this year with “Tra le tue Braccia,” the Italian translation of Daniel Bedingfield’s hit “If You’re not the One” and received a staggering welcome:

Tony Marotta at WRUW - “Beautiful...romantic...”

Giovanna Auriemma at WRHU - “Wow.”

Wolfman & Georg Hegelmann at FAME - “...melted like butter...”
